Director's Message

Welcome back! That's all I have to say (well, alright, I have a few more words...) There is so much going on this semester at OLLI: please take advantage of it and have fun along the way. I will try to visit as many study groups as I can in the coming weeks, to catch up with returning members and to welcome new ones.

Warm regards,

Kirsty Montgomery
Director, Osher Lifelong learning Institute
Northwestern University

P.S. The OLLI staff (Lisa, Paula, and Suzanne) have worked tirelessly this summer to process fall registrations. If you get a chance to say hello, or thank you, I know they'd appreciate it!

READ ANY GOOD BOOKS LATELY?
TELL US ABOUT THEM!

ONE BOOK / ONE OLLI will return next spring - a joint campus-wide celebration of community through reading and discussing one book, augmented by related events during the week of April 29 - May 6, 2016.

What is OBOLLI? It's our shorthand for One Book/One OLLI. You submit book suggestions beginning September 18. The member OBOLLI committee reviews the suggestions and selects and announces the 2016 OBOLLI book by early next year. The spring semester begins with a book sale, and the OBOLLI festivities take place during a mid-spring semester week of fun and learning with multiple special events. All are welcome to participate!

What we need soon for OBOLLI are your suggestions for that book - a good read, fiction or nonfiction, old or new, available in paper, likely to be broadly appealing, with themes that lend themselves to thoughtful discussion.

The book suggestion period will be open September 18 - 29. Think about good books for OBOLLI, and watch for your September 18 OLLI email with complete information on how to submit your suggestions.
Need to Change Your Schedule?

We want your OLLI experience to be positive! Changes may be made during the first two weeks of the semester if there is availability in another study group. To make a change, see Paula Foster, Wieboldt Hall, Rm 403 or Lisa D'Angelo on the Evanston Campus.
