OLLI ANYWHERE WINTER SESSION
MONDAY, JANUARY 9–MONDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 2023
MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute (OLLI) is to enable the continuation of learning and intellectual pursuit for a community of mature adults. As a special program of Northwestern University’s School of Professional Studies, OLLI offers a comprehensive curriculum of peer-led discussion groups covering topics in areas such as literature, history, politics, science, philosophy, current affairs, and the arts. OLLI welcomes diversity in its membership, and has no academic prerequisites or age restrictions.

KEY DATES:

Sunday, December 4: Winter membership available for purchase
Monday, December 12 at 9 a.m.: Winter registration opens.
Monday, January 2 at 5 p.m.: Winter registration closes.
Monday, January 9: Winter sessions begin.
As the weather turns cold here in Chicago, I start to think about OLLI like a morning cup of coffee: a practice that warms us from the inside out; a ritual that we share with friends and that sparks conversation; a habit that is almost addicting—in a good way.

This winter, curl up in the warmth and safety of your home and pour yourself a cup of OLLI. Wake up your senses. Join in conversation. Become energized.

OLLI is offering another wonderful selection of study groups that will engage your mind. And be sure to register for the special events this winter (page 29 & 30)—a little cream and sugar to add to your cup—free with your membership.

While this winter is an OLLI Anywhere experience of all virtual study groups, the spring term will be filled with both in-person and virtual experiences. Enjoy your virtual 4-week winter term and we’ll see you back on campus soon.

Joy in Learning and Community,
Kari
Kari Fagin, Director of Northwestern OLLI

Action Items

RIGHT NOW (December 4–December 11):

1. Log into the OLLI Online Registration System (northwesternolli.augusoft.net) today.
   - This will ensure you know your username and password before registration day. By preparing early, our team will have the time to help you if you have any difficulty.
   - If you are an existing member and cannot remember your username and password, do NOT create a new profile.
   - Remember, this login information is different than what is used to log into Canvas.

2. If you do not have a current membership, purchase your 2023 OLLI winter membership.
   - Please take advantage of this extra time to buy your membership early. Then, when registration opens, all you will need to do is select your study groups and quickly check out.

3. Review the study group offerings and begin thinking about your list of 1st, 2nd, and 3rd choices. Many groups fill quickly, so be open to other options that expand your interests and your exposure to new friendships.

REGISTRATION DAY (Monday, December 12):

Registration opens at 9 a.m.
Registration closes Monday, January 2 at 5 p.m.

Your early preparation should prevent registration day issues, but if you need help on registration day, contact us (see contact information below). OLLI staff or a volunteer will be in touch as quickly as possible. This day is extremely busy, so we ask for your patience.

In-person registration is available for those who truly do not have the equipment to complete these tasks online.

OLLI Anywhere

OLLI is all virtual this winter session. Join our study groups from anywhere you have an Internet connection! The only equipment needed is a computer or tablet with a camera (either built into the device or added separately), and an Internet connection. Our virtual classrooms will be held via Zoom and all study groups will follow our regular peer-led, highly interactive, social, and fun approach to learning. Technology training will be provided to new OLLI members as well as current members who want a bit more help—all with the goal of making you feel comfortable with this virtual environment.

OLLI Anywhere winter term allows members to avoid Chicago’s inclement weather, accommodates members who travel in the winter months, and safeguards us during the cold/flu season.

In the spring term, we will return to our blended approach in which both in-person and virtual study groups will be available. Until then, enjoy the benefits of this short virtual winter term.

Northwestern OLLI is a uniquely engaging peer learning experience.

Northwestern OLLI is one of only a few lifelong learning programs across the country that is based on a peer-led model, meaning we actively learn with and from one another in seminar-style discussion groups versus a more passive instructor-led experience. In our peer-led model, each of you brings your diverse experiences, backgrounds, careers, talents, and perspectives to the discussion. The result is deeper learning, greater community, richer conversation, and a truly unique and meaningful experience!

YOUR ROLE IN THE PEER-LED EXPERIENCE:

- Prepare: Carefully and purposefully read assigned material and discussion questions in advance. Consider ideas, arguments, or views presented in the selection. Highlight, make notes, and identify questions you want to explore.
- Participate: Enter the conversation, sharing your ideas succinctly and with focus. Listen actively and respectfully to the ideas and opinions of others.
- Volunteer to be a Discussion Leader: Discussion leaders are needed every week for the peer-led experience to be a success. Coordinators look to study group members to play this important, fun, and rewarding role. Whenever possible, volunteer to be a discussion leader, alone or with a partner.

Thank you for bringing yourself to this truly unique peer-led learning experience.

VIRTUAL OLLI ANYWHERE: MONDAY
BEGINS JANUARY 9, 2023

No Monday study groups on Monday, January 16 in observance of Martin Luther King day.

The New Yorker
Susan Gaud, Mary Watt, Hillis Howie
Monday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

The New Yorker magazine is has won multiple awards for its creative coverage of art, technology, politics, personalities, medicine, movies, fiction, fashion, and culture. In each session of this study group, we will examine the varied contents of this distinguished magazine. We will review the current issue from the cover to the cartoons and everything in between. Then we will explore a previously assigned article in depth. A volunteer discussion leader who has chosen the article will lead the session. Conversations are lively and lead to expanded knowledge. Everyone is encouraged to lead a session. A subscription to the magazine is necessary, either in print or on-line.

NEW
Would You Do the Right Thing?
Mary Minow, Newt Minow, Julia Katz
Monday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

Would you like to sample a famous Harvard philosophy course? The exceptionally popular Justice lecture series by Michael Sandel has been airing for over 30 years. Watch assigned videos on your own and then grapple with the philosophical dilemmas through discussions with fellow study group members. Sandel's engaging style will set the tone for lively discussions on what is the right thing to do. This study group will offer a philosophical framework to make deliberate decisions. Together we will apply this framework to current scenarios. It will make you think. The text is Justice: What's the Right Thing to Do? by Michael Sandel (Farrar, Straus and Giroux, 2010).

Blood and Ruins: World War II and the Ends of Empires
George Sullivan, Richard Krantz
Monday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

Begun in the fall semester, the Blood and Ruins study group will conclude its study of WWII in the winter session. The author, an accomplished WWII historian, reviews that conflict in his recent publication, Blood and Ruins: The Last Imperial War, 1931–1945 by Richard Overy (Viking 2022), as the cataclysmic final act in the long running drama of empires. The fall study group focused on the chronology of the global conflict, and themes such as mobilization, economics of the war, and the just/unjust war dialogue. The winter study group will focus on the topics of the four remaining chapters of Blood and Ruins, namely, civilian involvement and consequent social changes, emotional aspects of the conflict, crimes and atrocities, and post-war predominance of the nation-state. Each session's primary focus will be a discussion and analysis of that week's reading. Discussion leaders, however, may also wish to reference original historical materials, such as videos or contemporaneous accounts. Participation in the fall session of this study group is not a prerequisite for winter session participation.
NEW
Great Speeches Throughout History
Sid Mitchell, Tim Mojonnier
HISTORY & GOVERNMENT
Monday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

A great speech has a clear and well-defined message with convincing data that captures the audience. In addition, a great speech defines history and is memorable over time. Join us as we read and discuss three famous speeches each week. The study group, led by a member volunteer, will discuss the history at the time of the speech, the audience for which it was intended, and why this speech is great. Study group members can select from a large list of famous speeches provided by the coordinators including speeches such as “We Shall Fight on the Beaches,” “Farewell to Baseball Address,” and “I Am Prepared to Die.” In turn, we will study in greater depth the Revolutionary War, Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (ALS), and Apartheid.

NEW
Imagining the Lives of Women in the Middle Ages
James Knapp, Peggy Knapp
LITERATURE
Monday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

When asked to name a medieval woman, most people would probably think of a Saint or perhaps a famous queen. But, what about the nameless women who wove cloth, brewed beer, or grew herbs, who are now almost lost to memory? Storytelling preserves something of their lives, and near the end of the Middle Ages, Geoffrey Chaucer wrote many stories about these women. The women in Geoffrey Chaucer’s Canterbury Tales may be sturdy peasants or high-born ladies, but all reveal tiny, rich details of life that we might never have imagined. Two hundred years earlier, Marie de France, highly educated like Chaucer, also wrote delightful fictions. We will discuss a few of her stories and Chaucer’s tales to explore a topic that remains as entertaining as it is enlightening. We will use The Selected Canterbury Tales (W.W. Norton & Co., 2011) and The Lays of Marie de France, translated by David Slavitt, available at https://www.aupress.ca/app/uploads/120228_99Z_Slavitt_2013-The_Lays_of_Marie_de_France.pdf.

NEW
Abstract Art and Brain Science
Richard DuFour, Michael Dolesh, Summers McGurn
SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY, MEDICINE & HEALTH
Monday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

Do you find abstract art challenging? In this study group, we will study Reductionism in Art and Brain Science: Bridging the Two Cultures by Eric Kandel (Columbia University Press, 2018). Kandel, a Nobel Prize winner, uses both his deep interest in art and his work in neurobiology to explore our mental processes associated with visual perception, learning, and memory. He shows us how reductionism steered the transition from figurative art to the first explorations of abstract art, as reflected in the works of Turner, Monet, and other artists. We will see how artists in the postwar era, such as Pollock, de Kooning, and Rothko, used a reductionist approach to arrive at their abstract expressionism, and how Warhol and others reimagined figurative and minimal art. Kandel demonstrates how reductionism, used by scientists and artists alike, can inform the way we experience a work of art and seek to understand it. Join us in this combination art and science study group to look at abstract art from a new perspective and perhaps gain a greater appreciation of it.
NEW
Exploring America’s Mid-Size Cities
_Sid Mitchell, John Saule_
Monday, 1:15 p.m.–3:15 p.m.

Aristotle once said: “A great city is not to be confounded with a populous one.” A quarter of Americans live in mid-size cities with 500,000 or fewer people. Sit back and vacation each week as we virtually explore four mid-size cities. By way of videos and study group member presentations, we will learn about and discuss the demographics, culture, infrastructure, businesses, universities, governance, sports, as well as people, movies, and events that make these mid-size cities great. Old cities hold their beauty with age, just as do we.

NEW
Podcasts from “The Ezra Klein Show”
_Bob Myers, Bob Eder_
Monday, 1:15 p.m.–3:15 p.m.

Ezra Klein is a New York Times opinion writer who publishes a weekly podcast covering a wide range of interviews on current topics. Some of his recent interviews were with: Margaret Atwood on _The Bible and the Future_; C. Thi Nguyen on _A Life-Changing Philosophy of Games_; and Kathryn Bond Stockton on _Gender is Complicated for All of Us. Let’s Talk About It_. Each podcast is 60–90 minutes long. You will listen to the assigned podcast before each study group session. The discussion will focus on issues presented in the podcast. Study group members will be expected to actively participate in discussions, organized and led by group volunteers.

NEW
What Makes a Genius?
_Margot Wallace, Joel Weiss_
Monday, 1:15 p.m.–3:15 p.m.

Smart people are a dime a dozen, Walter Isaacson discovered, so he turned his attention to studying geniuses. What makes people like Leonardo da Vinci, Benjamin Franklin, Albert Einstein, and Steve Jobs geniuses? “They think different”, said Jobs. Expanding on this elegantly simple answer will challenge us. Our resource materials are YouTube talks by Walter Isaacson about four people who moved the axis and who saw things undreamed of. Walter Isaacson, acclaimed author, magazine executive, Aspen Institute leader, and Tulane University professor, is a dynamic podium speaker, and his idea-filled talks will invigorate each week’s discussion as we grapple with these phenomenal creative geniuses.
NEW
World War II: January and February 1943—The Reversal of Fortune
_Michael Sehr, Gary Sullivan_
Monday, 1:15 p.m.–3:15 p.m.

By January 1943, World War II was entering its third year. Up to that point Germany, Italy, and Japan had gained control over huge areas of Europe, Africa, and Asia. But January and February 1943 would see the reversal of the Axis fortunes: circumstances at Stalingrad, Guadalcanal, and in North Africa would mark the beginning of the end for the Axis alliance. In January, Roosevelt and Churchill met at Casablanca, with Roosevelt declaring that the Allies’ war aim was “unconditional surrender.” In this study group, we will analyze this key period in World War II history through _The New York Times_ newspaper articles, _Life Magazine_ photos and stories, book excerpts, and videos. We will include military history, politics, and contemporary culture in order to more fully understand these momentous events. We will provide all study group materials on Canvas.

NEW
Four Stories of Tolstoy
_Ken Yoshitani, Judy Pins_
Monday, 1:15 p.m.–3:15 p.m.

Tolstoy is well known for _War and Peace_ and _Anna Karenina_. He has also written novella and short stories. The best known among these is perhaps _The Death of Ivan Ilych and Other Stories_ (Barnes and Noble and Fine Creative Media, 2004). In this study group, we will read and discuss four of Tolstoy’s works from this book: _The Death of Ivan Ilych, Family Happiness, The Kreutzer Sonata, and Hadji Murad_. These works span half a century and are quite different. In dealing with domestic issues, Tolstoy is deceptively modern and in _Hadji Murad_, the readers are brought into the 21st century reality. Thus, although the backgrounds of four works are in far off lands in the 19th century and early 20th century, the stories are timeless. We will read _The Death of Ivan Ilych and Other Stories_ by Leo Tolstoy, ISBN 978-1-59308-069-3, Barnes & Noble Classics.

Piranesi—Fantasy, Mystery, Wonder
_Janet Jablon_
Monday, 1:15 p.m.–3:15 p.m.

_Piranesi_ by English author Susanna Clarke (Bloomsbury Publishing, 2020) blends elements of fantasy and mystery to engage the reader in an exploration of innocence, spirituality, and belief. In this study group, we will discuss Piranesi’s world, which is a labyrinthine House. Its spacious and seemingly numberless rooms and halls are lined with beautiful statues. Clouds stream through the upper reaches of the House, and its lower level is an ocean that sometimes threatens the rooms above with rising tides. Within this strange and sometimes threatening environment, Piranesi is alone, except for the Other, a well-dressed man who brings him small gifts and presses him to search for the great and secret knowledge that is hidden somewhere in the House. We will explore Clarke’s captivating and gentle character whose natural empathy and curiosity unlock the essence of the strange world he inhabits. The winner of the 2021 Women’s Prize for Fiction, Piranesi follows Clarke’s Hugo Award winning debut novel _Dr. Strange and Mr. Norrell_. Join us in studying the character and plot development in this wonderful novel.

Danger Zone: The Coming Conflict with China
*CONTEMPORARY ISSUES
James Smith, Randall Liss
Tuesday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

How close are we to war with Red China? Very close according to historian Hal Brands and geopolitical strategist Michael Beckley. In Danger Zone: The Coming Conflict with China, they assert that China's growth has peaked and will begin to decline, but the ambition of its leaders to become the preeminent global power has not lessened. They write, “The greatest geopolitical catastrophes occur at the intersection of ambition and desperation. Xi Jinping’s China will soon be driven by plenty of both.” China’s internal difficulties are escalating: a demographic crisis, a stagnating economy, and depletion of resources. We will discuss how, by 2030 these issues will undermine China's capacity to assert itself on the global stage. If China wants to make its big move, it must act very soon. The authors draw historical parallels to Germany between the turn of the century and World War II and to Japan in the 1930s. The most obvious flashpoint is Taiwan, both to unify China (as Beijing sees it) and as a geopolitical statement of assertion. Therefore, the U.S. must actively manage the short-term crisis if it is to emerge well-placed for the long game. Join us to learn about the coming Pacific confrontation.

Exploring the Visual Arts—The Secrets of Art
CREATIVE ARTS
Mary Jon Girard, Bridget Stump, Roger Heuberger
Tuesday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

Join this study group to discover the stories behind familiar and famous works of art. Debra Mancoff’s book The Secrets of Art (Frances Lincoln, 2021) introduces intriguing stories behind some of the most iconic artworks and some that might be new to us. Ms. Mancoff has been a professor and presenter at Northwestern University and the School of the Art Institute of Chicago and is a longstanding resident scholar at the Newberry Library. As an author, historian, and art detective, she draws upon findings of advanced technology, new research, scientific analysis, and old-fashion curiosity to reveal layers of meaning beneath great works of art in a “collection of tales that are fully based in fact but are as fascinating as fiction.” We cover the first chapters of The Secrets of Art in the 2023 winter session and the final chapters of this book during the 2023 summer session. Participation in the summer session is not a requirement of enrollment in the winter session. Whether you join this group for only one or both 2023 sessions, you will enjoy the stories behind the art work and maybe find that a picture really is worth a thousand words.

Researching Colonial Life
Margot Wallace
Tuesday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

Eighteenth century carpenters created new tools. Native Americans interacted regularly with the newcomer communities. As archaeological digs show, the natural world had a major impact on colonials. Ongoing research at Colonial Williamsburg, the vast living museum in Williamsburg, Virginia, explores colonial life beyond the history books, continually revealing American life before America existed. This scholarship provides original discussion topics for our study group, which will analyze the issues confronting our for-bears. We will explore readings from Colonial Williamsburg’s Trend & Tradition magazine at colonialwilliamsburg.org. Suggested articles and their links will be posted two weeks before the study group starts and study group members can vote for those from which the final list will be chosen. Volunteer as a discussion leader—the Colonials liked peer government!—and choose your own topics.

The Enlightenment Revisited: Part Two
Gordon Mallett, Calvin Mouw
Tuesday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

This study group is an extension of our Fall offering of the Enlightenment, which was a turning point in the intellectual history of the West. The Enlightenment was more than a historical period; it was a maturation process of becoming progressively self-directed in a way that leads to an increasingly fulfilled human existence. This transformation opened the door to all kinds of enlightened ideas such as the scientific revolution, the rise of toleration, and the celebration of beauty and happiness. In the study group, we will discuss Cosmopolitanism, Forms of Government, and the American and French Revolutions. Finally, we will offer a critical assessment of the processes, the ideas, and the societal impacts of the Enlightenment. The weekly readings come from the final chapters of Ritchie Robertson's book The Enlightenment: The Pursuit of Happiness, 1680-1790 (HarperCollins, 2021). Participation in the fall study group is not a prerequisite for the winter study group. New members are encouraged to join us.

What is the Metaverse?
Steven Barrigar, Steve VanderVoort
Tuesday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

What is this thing called the Metaverse? You may have heard the term “metaverse” and think it is all about games and virtual reality headsets, but it is much more. The metaverse is being used in business, education, real estate, art, entertainment, and media. It includes such topics as augmented reality (AR), virtual reality (VR), extended reality (XR), non-fungible tokens (NFT), cryptocurrency, decentralized finance (DeFi), and digital twins. Are you confused and want to learn more? Join us as we define all these terms and work on demystifying this phenomenon called “the metaverse.” Our guide will be Mark van Rijmenam, a future tech strategist, and his book Step into the Metaverse: How the Immersive Internet will Unlock a Trillion Dollar Economy (Wiley and Sons, 2022). If you want to learn something new this winter, join us for what promises to be a fascinating and enlightening discussion.
Potpourri in Film and Art
Trish Ronan, Tim Atkins
Tuesday, 1:15 p.m.–3:15 p.m.

Potpourri is defined as a mixture of things, especially a musical or literary medley. Extending the definition to artists, we will examine the work of the following: Andrei Rublev (1360–1427) in Andrei Rublev (directed by Andrei Tarkovsky, 1966); Francisco Goya (1746-1828) in Goya in Bordeaux (directed by Carlos Saura, 1999); J.M.W. Turner (1775–1851) in Mr. Turner (directed by Mike Leigh, 2014); and Kitagawa Utamaro (c.1753–1806) in Utamaro and His Five Women (directed by Kenji Mizoguchi, 1946). During the first hour of each session, we will discuss the film-making techniques and its portrayal (or not) of the artist's life and work. In the second hour, we will peruse a compendium of slides of the artist’s work and then focus on a number of masterpieces for an in-depth examination of the art. This study group will be a mash-up for those who love movies and art!

Tuesday at the Movies
Michael Pierce, Hillel Furlager, David Buffen
Tuesday, 1:15 p.m.–3:15 p.m.

Together forever. In this study group we will focus on the performances of an actor and actress who separately and together have created cinematic magic: Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward. Married for 50 years, they each won an Oscar for best actor/actress and appeared in 16 films together. Their most successful collaboration was Rachel, Rachel, a 1968 movie directed by Paul Newman, with Joanne Woodward nominated for a best actress role and the movie garnering a nomination for Best Picture. In addition to this film, we will view and analyze Newman’s Cool Hand Luke (Dir. Stuart Rosenberg, 1967); Newman’s The Color of Money (Dir. Martin Scorsese, 1986); and Woodward’s The Three Faces of Eve (Dir. Nunnally Johnson, 1957). We will watch each week’s movie in advance of the session; members must obtain the movies on their own, which can usually be found through streaming services. Each movie is presented by one member volunteer who will lead the discussion. The six-part series, The Last Movie Stars—which is supposedly the true story of Newman and Woodward’s lives and careers—is optional viewing on HBO MAX.

Politics, Culture, and Identity in Modern Iran
Ann Rusnak, Dan Burns
Tuesday, 1:15 p.m.–3:15 p.m.

Sustained protests are challenging the legitimacy of the Islamic regime in Iran, which came to power in 1979. The complexities of post-revolutionary Iranian politics and society are examined in The State of Resistance: Politics, Culture, and Identity in Modern Iran (Cambridge University Press, 2022) by Assal Rad, an Iranian-American academic. Rad takes us on a journey through 20th century Iran, examining how each governing system has sought to legitimize its rule by forging its own variation of Iranian nationalism and identity. Using innovative multi-disciplinary methods, the book investigates the formation of an Iranian national identity over the last century and the role of Iranian people in defining the contours of that identity. We will discuss the efforts of the Pahlavi dynasty to create a national narrative based on pre-Islamic Persian history, the coming to power of Ayatollah Khomeini, and the new identity imposed by the Islamic Republic. We will discuss how identity has been shaped by music, literature, and film, and the essential importance of political and cultural independence to the Iranian polity. Join us to gain a deeper understanding of contemporary Iran.

The German Revolution of 1918
Joseph Hinkel, Vince McBrien
Tuesday, 1:15 p.m.–3:15 p.m.

Few have heard of the German Revolution of 1918 and those who have generally regard it as a failure. Join us as we read and discuss November 1918: The German Revolution by Robert Gerwarth (Oxford University Press, 2020). Gerwarth argues that the 1918 revolution brought democracy to Germany, created the Weimar Republic in a remarkably bloodless way, and withstood attempts to overthrow the democracy from the right and the left. This book fills in the blanks between the end of WWI and Hitler's rise to power. We will cover the entire book in the four week session.

Ian McEwan Returns: On Chesil Beach
Julie Johnson, Michael Singer
Tuesday, 1:15 p.m.–3:15 p.m.

In this study group, we will discuss and analyze Ian McEwan's novel On Chesil Beach (Jonathan Cape, 2007), which was short-listed for Britain's Booker Prize. On Chesil Beach is a gorgeous portrayal of a new marriage that predates the sexual revolution of the late 1960s. McEwan's young couple marries in 1962, a time when attitudes and expectations were still often dictated by earlier, more repressed periods. In his characteristic precise and elegant prose, and with abundant sympathy for his protagonists, McEwan illustrates how seemingly small actions—or perhaps casual thoughts either expressed or unexpressed—can lead to enormous consequences when they play out over time. In the process, McEwan establishes how much society has changed in vital ways between then and now. We hope you will join us for our study of this exquisite novel.

Foreign Affairs
Gary Benz, Gene Mackevich, Jim Perlow
Wednesday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

This study group is made up of fellow students who love to read and desire to learn about the countries of the world through their interactions with one another. We encourage and attract people who have inquisitive minds and are serious about learning and exchanging ideas. We take pride in being inclusive and not intimidating by conducting sessions that are welcoming and tolerate a wide range of opinions that are documented and convincingly expressed. We start with material from Foreign Affairs, a bimonthly magazine published by the Council on Foreign Relations, but we don't stop there. Discussion leaders may supplement weekly readings with materials from think tanks (such as Brookings), mainstream periodicals (such as The Economist, Financial Times, Wall Street Journal, The New York Times), and topical books. The goal of this study group is to be interactive with a healthy exchange of ideas, while still being fun and rewarding. In doing so, we create our own “think tank” and try to resolve problems and world issues.

Does Thomas Paine’s Common Sense Still Make Common Sense?
Howard Tanzman, Judith Curtis
Wednesday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

Thomas Paine’s 1776 pamphlet Common Sense is credited with generating support for the American Revolution. In the pamphlet, which was widely popular in its day, Paine argued both for separation from England and for the creation of a democratic form of government. Many issues covered by Paine are still relevant today including the proper size and role of government, taxes, free trade, immigration, and foreign entanglements. Each week we will cover one of the four sections in Paine’s document: 1) Of the origin and design of government in general, with concise remarks on the English constitution. 2) Of monarchy and hereditary succession. 3) Thoughts on the present state of American affairs. 4) Of the present ability of America, with some miscellaneous reflections. Join us for learning and discussion of this historic pamphlet, relevant to today.

Hemingway as a Writer: The Sun Also Rises
Martha Bills, Margaret Schilt
Wednesday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

Ernest Hemingway’s larger than life persona sometimes obscures his fame as a writer. This study group focuses on The Sun Also Rises (Charles Scribner’s Sons, 1926), the book that made him a literary icon of the 1920s. It was Hemingway’s first novel, portraying American and British expatriates who travel from Paris to Pamplona to watch the running of the bulls. Hemingway based the book on his own experiences as an expatriate in Paris. The New York Times lauded it, “The Sun Also Rises…is a truly gripping story, told in a lean, hard, athletic narrative prose that puts more literary English to shame.” While some contemporaries were less enthusiastic, later scholars praised The Sun Also Rises as his greatest work for which he received the Nobel Prize in Literature in 1954. In the first three weeks of this study group, we will discuss the book, the period in history, and the impact of this work in Hemingway’s career and society as a whole. In the fourth week we will focus on the 1957 film starring Tyrone Power, Ava Gardner, and Errol Flynn. The Sun Also Rises is available in hardcover, paperback, and Kindle, any edition is acceptable. The film is on Amazon Prime video.

The Caldecott Medal—Which Books will be Honored This Year?  LITERATURE
George Sullivan, Mary Watt
Wednesday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

Each January, The American Library Association awards the Caldecott Medal to the artist of the most distinguished children's American picture book published the preceding year. Generally considered the most prestigious award in the field of illustrated children's literature, the Caldecott Medal is named in honor of nineteenth-century English illustrator Randolph Caldecott. Study group members will review the history of the Caldecott Award and discuss recent awardees. The group will particularly consider potential 2022 awardees, their authors, and illustrators. Once the Caldecott Medal winner and honorable mention awardees are announced, we will focus on the awardees and discuss the attributes which led to their selection. Participation in this study group will provide insights into the current trends in children's illustrated literature, and give opportunity to discern whether the award-winning books offer readers a window into the world around them and/or a mirror into the reader's own life. Study group members will be encouraged to use videos and similar electronic resources to facilitate discussion about the awardees.

When Dinosaurs Reigned: A New History of a Lost World  SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY, MEDICINE & HEALTH
John Doherty, Brenda Russell
Wednesday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

The Rise and Fall of the Dinosaurs by the paleontologist Steve Brusatte (William Morrow, 2018) received rave reviews from Smithsonian Magazine, Scientific American, The New York Times, and others. Brusatte skillfully brings dead dyno bones to life as he shares his personal journey as a young fossil hunter. This book is a page turner, dropping one aha moment after another. “Somewhere around the world,” he writes, “a new species of dinosaur is currently being found, on average, once a week.” Our study group will accompany Illinois native, University of Chicago graduate, and now Edinburgh University professor Brusatte on a journey of discovery and understanding. We will focus on key chapters as we travel from the dinosaurs' humble beginnings over 240 million years ago, through their 180 million years of dominance, to the cataclysmic extinction of the largest dinosaurs 65 million years ago. We will explore the impact on dinosaurs of climate change, continental movement, terrestrial and non-terrestrial driven extinctions, only to discover that 10,000 species of dinosaurs exist today. We will explore what the mass extinction of the largest dinosaurs means for us.

American Policy During the Holocaust

Dorothy Balabanos, Edward Klinenberg

Wednesday, 1:15 p.m.–3:15 p.m.

Using Ken Burns’ recent six-hour PBS documentary, The U.S. and the Holocaust, our study group will examine the tragic human consequences of public indifference, bureaucratic red tape, and restrictive quota laws in America. The United States is considered a “nation of immigrants,” but as the catastrophe of the Holocaust unfolded in Europe, our country proved unwilling to open its doors to more than a fraction of the hundreds of thousands of desperate people seeking refuge. We will explore the rise of Nazism in Germany in the context of global anti-semitism and racism, the eugenics movement in the United States, and the race laws in the American South. We will also tackle a range of questions that our world faces today, including how racism and prejudice influence policies related to immigration and refugees, as well as how governments and people respond to the rise of authoritarian states that manipulate history and facts to consolidate power. Join us as we examine one of the greatest humanitarian crises of the 20th century and the eerie similarities to our world today.

Blood Moon in Oklahoma: The Osage Indian Murders  HISTORY & GOVERNMENT
Desiree Shannon, Peg Romm, Geneva Norman
Wednesday, 1:15 p.m.–3:15 p.m.

The story of the Osage Indian murders of the 1920s is yet another chapter in America's dark history that remained forgotten for nearly a century. It has caught the public's—and Hollywood's—attention, mainly because of David Grann's book Killers of the Flower Moon: the Osage Murders and the Birth of the FBI (Doubleday, 2017). This study group will focus on this meticulously documented, insightful book, which made the New York Times Bestseller list for 49 weeks. This is the story of one of the most horrific episodes of systemic genocide involving America's indigenous peoples, where, one by one, members of the Osage tribe of Oklahoma were murdered for their wealth and oil-rich lands with the help of the local legal establishment. The investigation of this case helped elevate and professionalize J. Edgar Hoover’s FBI, and the book examines how the fledgling organization cracked the case. This is another “hidden” stain involving 20th-century race relations in the U.S., happening at around the same time as the Tulsa massacre. It has caught the interest of Martin Scorsese, who directed a film version of this book to be released in 2023.

How Civil Wars Start (and How to Stop Them)  CONTEMPORARY ISSUES
James Smith, William Barker
Thursday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

Barbara F. Walter, a Professor of International Relations at the University of California, San Diego, is a member of the Political Instability Task Force (PITF). In 1994, this task force was charged by the U.S. Government to develop a model for predicting when civil war will occur in other countries. In How Civil Wars Start (and How to Stop Them) (Crown Publishing, 2022), Professor Walter draws on examples from all over the world to illustrate the PITF predictive model. Strong democracies or autocracies do not have civil wars. Rather, anocracies (countries moving from autocracy to democracy, or from democracy to autocracy), are the likely candidates. The potential grows when political parties become factionalized along ethnic, racial, religious, and/or class lines, and share the same geographic location. The danger expands when a major faction feels that it is losing status and power. In these conditions, “ethnic entrepreneurs” can rise to power by playing to passions. Think this can't happen here? Much of it already has. Think a new civil war can't happen because the present doesn't look like 1861? Think again. Modern civil wars don't look like 1861. Join us for a chilling examination of just how close to civil war we may already be.

The Beat Poets
Judy Myers, Michael Dolesh
Thursday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

Lawrence Ferlinghetti, Allen Ginsberg, and Jack Kerouac were among the leading poets who defined the counterculture movement of the 1950s and 1960s. Rebellion against conformity to mainstream American values is reflected in their poems. Their writing incorporates sex, drugs, Zen Buddhism, and jazz. Other poets who are considered part of the “Beat Generation” include Diane di Prima, Gary Snyder, Joanne Kyger, and Bob Kaufman. If you want to revisit these writers from your younger days or explore them for the first time, then this study group is for you. You will learn about the influences on the Beat poets in the post-World War II era. Each week we will read their poems aloud, as they were meant to be read. Our discussion will focus on the meaning of the poems at the time they were written, as well as their meaning in today's world. Our primary resource will be materials found on the Poetry Foundation website, but we will use other online resources to learn about these men and women, their poems, and their influence on subsequent generations of writers.

The Human Cost of Imperialism: Afterlives
Suzanne Farrand, Connie Karduck
Thursday, 9:45 a.m.–11:45 a.m.

Afterlives is a just published love story set in German East Africa, now Tanzania, just before World War I. It is especially timely, as former colonial powers are being challenged to examine their history. Written by Abdulrazak Gurnah, the 2021 winner of the Nobel Prize for Literature, it vividly reminds the reader of the violence and cruelty of the colonial era. We will explore not only the devastating effects of colonialism on places, but also on uprooted people. Martha Bills, Rosemary O'Shea, Pat Stankard
Thursday, 1:15 p.m.–3:15 p.m.
Continuing the study of the Middle Ages that we began in the Fall, this study group will cover the last four chapters of the book, Powers and Thrones: A New History of the Middle Ages (Viking, 2021) by Dan Jones. Having examined topics related to the Dark Ages, including the Romans, Byzantines, Vikings, Monks, Crusades, Mongols, Merchants, Builders, and Scholars, we will finish our study with chapters entitled “Survivors,” “Renewers,” “Navigators,” and “Protestants.” The themes of climate change, disease, and mass migrations deeply entwined in the story of East and West will continue. There was rarely a dull moment in the thousand years from the middle of the 5th century to the beginning of the Renaissance in the 15th century. Join us as we continue to reflect upon why this period of history is anything but dark. It is not necessary to have been enrolled in the Fall session to enjoy, learn, and participate in this study group.

NEW
Speculative Fiction
Michael Goodkind, Dory Rand
Thursday, 1:15 p.m.–3:15 p.m.
Join us for a beer with a talking monkey! Take a walk down Memory Lane by recalling the time when the Beatles and Vietnam were ruling the news cycle. Delve into the world of magical realism and the beautiful introspection of renowned author Haruki Murakami in his latest short story collection First Person Singular (Alfred A. Knopf, 2020). Whether you are a longtime fan or new to the author’s unique style, we will enjoy discussing these eight stories, two per week. Study group members are encouraged to develop discussion topics and questions.
Science Times
Brenda Russell, Valerie Maragos, Mark Levin
Thursday, 1:15 p.m.–3:15 p.m.

Do you want to discuss the latest developments in science? For the last 40 years, The New York Times has had an extensive section on scientific subjects. Topics cover a broad range of science and technology, as well as health and medicine. The articles make the reader sit up and take notice by calling attention to new, surprising, or under-reported scientific developments. Members of this study group will be asked to select, research, and lead discussions. Articles come from a recent Tuesday Science Times section or from articles elsewhere in The New York Times with topical scientific interest. Scientific background is not needed; just bring your curiosity and interest for any and all things science. A digital or print subscription to The New York Times is required. We learn and we laugh together. Join us for some great discussions.

BONUS GROUP: Let’s Talk About the Movies (Thursday)
Trish Ronan, Suraleah Michaels, Tim Atkins
Thursday, 4:00 p.m.–5:30 p.m.

If you like discussing and analyzing movies, this bonus group is for you. On the second and fourth week of winter term, we will discuss the movie posted on Canvas. After viewing the movie at home for the first time, we ask that you watch a second time for the film elements. Our emphasis will be on how the story is told. The group will meet on January 19, 2023 and February 2, 2023. Members may register for only one of the two “Let’s Talk About the Movies” Bonus Groups.

“The most amazing thing is the continuing success of peer learning for which I am very grateful. I think of a quote from a member who said “it’s a reason to jump out of bed in the morning.” Amen to that!

The current Supreme Court is the most conservative in 90 years, handing down a series of decisions that reverse longstanding precedents and law. With a new term underway, the Court is poised to rule on cases relating to voting rights, affirmative action, reproductive rights, immigration and much more.

Professor Shapiro will analyze the Supreme Court’s current composition, assess how it will decide major issues and how this will impact American democracy. She will discuss the apparent politicization of the Court and whether Americans have lost faith in the legitimacy of its work. Finally, she will share proposals for court reform.

Celebrate Black History Month with the heart, soul, and legacy of Jazz music! The Great Migration of the early 20th century brought jazz to Chicago, starting out in small local clubs on the South Side. The Chicago style of jazz came out of both the Mississippi Delta and New Orleans “Dixieland” style and is characterized by heavy string bass and guitar, longer solos, and quick tempos.

Chicago Jazz artists Orbert Davis, Bobbi Wilsyn, and Margaret Murphy-Webb discuss the history of jazz and the impact of Chicago jazz on the national scene. There will be a Q&A and live music featuring bebop, swing, modal, and Latin sub-genres of jazz.

Northwestern's Policy on Discrimination and Harassment

Northwestern University does not discriminate or permit discrimination by any member of its community against any individual on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, parental status, marital status, age, disability, citizenship status, veteran status, genetic information, reproductive health decision making, or any other classification protected by law in matters of admissions, employment, housing, or services or in the educational programs or activities it operates. Harassment, whether verbal, physical, or visual, that is based on any of these characteristics is a form of discrimination. Further prohibited by law is discrimination against any employee and/or job applicant who chooses to inquire about, discuss, or disclose their own compensation or the compensation of another employee or applicant.

Northwestern University complies with federal and state laws that prohibit discrimination based on the protected categories listed above, including Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972. Title IX requires educational institutions, such as Northwestern, to prohibit discrimination based on sex (including sexual harassment) in the University's educational programs and activities, including in matters of employment and admissions. In addition, Northwestern provides reasonable accommodations to qualified applicants, students, and employees with disabilities and to individuals who are pregnant.

Any alleged violations of this policy or questions with respect to nondiscrimination or reasonable accommodations should be directed to Northwestern's Office of Equity, 1800 Sherman Avenue, Suite 4-500, Evanston, Illinois 60208, 847-467-6165, equity@northwestern.edu.

Questions specific to sex discrimination (including sexual misconduct and sexual harassment) should be directed to Northwestern's Title IX Coordinator in the Office of Equity, 1800 Sherman Avenue, Suite 4-500, Evanston, Illinois 60208, 847-467-6165, TitleIXCoordinator@northwestern.edu.

A person may also file a complaint with the Department of Education's Office for Civil Rights regarding an alleged violation of Title IX by visiting www2.ed.gov/about/offices/list/ocr/complaintintro.html or calling 800-421-3481. Inquiries about the application of Title IX to Northwestern may be referred to Northwestern's Title IX Coordinator, the United States Department of Education's Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights, or both.

AVOIDING MICROAGGRESSIONS

To reduce the possibility of unintended harm to fellow OLLI members and to help OLLI be fully inclusive, we encourage all members to educate themselves on microaggressions and be mindful of this information as they engage in OLLI classrooms. Microaggression education can be found in the Student Canvas site which all members are encouraged to review.

STANDARDS OF CONDUCT

As members of the Northwestern community, OLLI members are expected to behave with each other with civility and respect, recognizing that disagreement and informed debate are valued in an academic community. Demeaning, intimidating, threatening, or violent behaviors will not be tolerated. Such behavior could result in dismissal from the program.

The Northwestern University Student Handbook can be viewed at: sps.northwestern.edu/student-handbook

As of December 4, 2022
NORTHEASTERN OLLI MEMBER EXPECTATIONS AND COVID-19 CODE OF CONDUCT

The well-being of our Northwestern OLLI community is our highest priority. Northwestern OLLI has developed the following expectations for all OLLI members who return to campus or participate in any OLLI program (even remotely). Northwestern OLLI may modify these expectations at any time as guidance from federal, state, and local governments and/or the University evolves. Substantive modifications will be communicated to you. As a reminder, in addition to the expectations set forth below, all members are expected to follow policies applicable to members, including those contained in the NU Student Handbook and the OLLI program documentation.

I agree to the following:

- I will regularly monitor the University’s guidelines related to COVID-19 on the COVID-19 site and stay updated on any guidance provided by the University.
- While on campus I will abide by safety or hygiene standards recommended by Northwestern and any applicable agencies, including the Illinois Department of Public Health or the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). For example, standards regarding social distancing, limiting gatherings, hand washing and sanitizing, and cleaning shared surfaces.
- If mandated by Northwestern University, I will wear a mask or face covering in all public and shared environments on campus and whenever required by the University, unless I have a medical condition that restricts my ability to do so. I understand that the face covering must meet guidelines from the CDC and Northwestern’s guidance.
- I understand that I may be asked to submit to COVID-19 testing and will comply with COVID-19 testing requirements and treatment recommendations.
- I will cooperate with any contact tracing efforts by the University.
- I will perform and document any self-monitoring or self-screening of health symptoms that the University asks me to complete, including monitoring my personal health daily and reporting any conditions as required by the University.
- I will participate in any additional health screening required by the University.
- I will immediately report any exposure to COVID-19 to the OLLI office, and will not participate in in-person OLLI activities until I am cleared by the University.
- I will follow the University’s guidelines on self-isolation and/or quarantining and any applicable guidelines or requirements from public health agencies, including any guidance regarding self-isolation and/or quarantining for individuals who have traveled outside of the United States and/or the State of Illinois.
- I will complete training programs related to COVID-19 provided by the University.

I have read and understand this summary of expectations and agree to follow all Northwestern University guidelines related to reducing the spread of COVID-19. If I do not follow these expectations, I may be referred to the OLLI office for follow up and the consequences of regular noncompliance may include removal from the OLLI program. I understand these expectations may change given the evolving nature of the pandemic. I further understand that if I have questions, I can raise them with the OLLI office and/or the appropriate University office.

I understand and acknowledge that while Northwestern is continuing to clean, sanitize, and engage in other best practices, and that Northwestern is continuing to follow the guidance of public health officials to help prevent the contracting and spread of COVID-19, much of the nature of the COVID-19 virus is still unknown (including potential long term health effects), and Northwestern cannot control risks associated with COVID-19 or guarantee that the campus (including any building) is free of the virus, or that I or my belongings will not be exposed to COVID-19, and that such exposure may result in illness and/or a disruption to my OLLI experience. I recognize that individuals with the following conditions may have a higher risk from COVID-19 infection: age 65 or older, HIV, asthma, chronic lung disease, diabetes, serious heart condition, chronic kidney disease being treated with dialysis, severe obesity, immunocompromised, and certain pregnancy related conditions. I also understand that information suggests there may be heart or lung complications affiliated with COVID-19. I understand that if I am diagnosed with COVID-19 or was in close contact with someone with COVID-19 I should seek consultation from a medical provider and receive medical clearance before returning to any OLLI activities.

I understand and acknowledge that OLLI is planning for many study groups and events to take place in person in the upcoming term, while some study groups will continue to be virtual. However, in-person study groups are dependent upon evolving health guidelines and space availability. Accordingly, if safety conditions change, some or all events may be cancelled or postponed, and in-person study groups may shift to virtual experiences. Such changes will be communicated to members by OLLI or the University. Membership dues and fees will not be refunded or prorated in these circumstances.

I understand and acknowledge that Northwestern may need to make additional sudden changes to the campus environment – including requiring members to leave campus.

I understand and acknowledge that I have informed awareness of these risks and share the responsibility for minimizing risk of exposure to and spread of COVID-19 to myself and others, and that I am voluntarily resuming my OLLI experience.
HEALTH & SAFETY REQUIREMENTS AND INFORMATION

Safeguarding the health and safety of our members and staff remains top priority. Northwestern OLLI continues to listen to the science and follow CDC guidelines, state mandates, and Northwestern policies related to all COVID-19 safety protocols. If these guidelines, mandates, or policies change, Northwestern OLLI will adjust accordingly.

Vaccinations

OLLI MEMBERS:

During registration, OLLI members will be required to attest to being fully vaccinated and boosterized. [I hereby attest that I have been fully vaccinated for COVID-19 with an FDA- or WHO-authorized vaccine and have also obtained a COVID-19 booster, or that I have one of the following two vaccine exceptions: a documented health condition or a sincerely held religious belief. If I have a vaccine exception, I commit to wearing a mask at all times while on campus and completing testing as required.]

Attestation is a legal acknowledgment of authenticity. At this time, proof of vaccination is not required, however proof of vaccination could be required in the future. All members will be required to attest even if they select only virtual study groups, as they could be on campus for programming or other services such as the University library.

NORTHWESTERN STAFF AND DEGREE-SEEKING STUDENTS:

All OLLI staff members have been vaccinated against COVID-19 and received boosters. Northwestern requires all faculty, staff, and students to be vaccinated and boosterized, subject to limited exceptions. Unvaccinated staff, faculty, or degree-seeking students who are on campus are required to complete regular COVID-19 testing, complete the daily symptom tracking, and wear a mask in all shared indoor settings.
REGISTRATION INFORMATION

Choice and Flexibility

Remember, every study group will have a limited number of seats in order to maintain the high quality, peer-led learning model that Northwestern OLLI is known for. As a result, not everyone may get into their first choice. However, members are often pleasantly surprised and pleased by their second, third, or even fourth choice study group which expanded their interests and their friendships. In the spirit of lifelong learning, we encourage members to keep an open mind when registering. There are many outstanding study groups from which to choose!
